(b) if so, the details in this regard and the reasons therefor;

(c) whether Government are aware that the postponement of the introduction of VAT system is likely to adversely affect the competitiveness of the Indian industries in the domestic as well as global market; and

(d) if so, the steps proposed to be taken in this regard?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI GINGEE N. RAMACHANDRAN): (a) and (b) A conference of State/UT Finance Ministers held in January, 2002 decided, after detailed deliberations, that the Value added Tax (VAT) system be introduced by all States from 1 April, 2003. This postponement was found necessary to enable completion of various legislative measures as well as administrative actions in areas like computerisation, staff training allaying apprehensions about the VAT system in certain sections of trade and industry, etc. This will also enable all States, including special category States, to introduce the VAT system from the same date.

(c) and (d) The State/Union Territory Governments as well as the Central Government are of the view that adequate prior preparations must be ensured before introduction of the VAT system. Only then would it be possible for this taxation system to assist the process of improving the competitiveness of Indian industry.
